Professionalizing Peacebuilding
through Experiential Training & Applied Research

www.IPSInstitute.org
Welcome to the Venture Peacebuilding Symposium.

Today we begin an ambitious initiative to disrupt systems of violence, build peaceful and resilient communities, and reclaim the $14 trillion of global GDP annually lost to conflict through harnessing the power of the private sector.

It is a privilege for Creative Learning, the parent organization of IPSI, along with American University’s School of International Service (SIS) and our partners to collaborate on innovative financing for peace and development. We look forward to robust engagement on the question of to what we as stakeholders can do together to build an ecosystem of people and companies committed to Venture Peacebuilding.

Jeff Bezos once said, “Every new thing creates two new questions and two new opportunities.” In that spirit, this Symposium is just the beginning of the broader Venture Peacebuilding Initiative exploring the questions and opportunities found here. In 2018, there will be roundtable discussions that delve into new frontiers revealed by the Symposium, training for peace entrepreneurs interested in developing Venture Peacebuilding business models, and an online platform connecting vetted peacebuilding incubators and entrepreneurs for mentoring, networking, and cross-pollination.

Thank you for joining this important discussion and sharing your insight into how we can partner to solve global challenges. We expect the Symposium to be a vibrant forum where we learn, share, innovate, and launch the Venture Peacebuilding Initiative together.

Day 1

Introducing Venture Peacebuilding

8:30-9:00 am
Registration and Coffee

9:00-9:15 am
Introducing Venture Peacebuilding

This session will introduce the concept of Venture Peacebuilding: impact investors, social entrepreneurs, and peacebuilders working together to bring peace and prosperity to fragile and conflict-affected communities.

Carola Mendelbaum: CEO, Creative Learning (@CLearningInc)

Cameron M. Chisholm: Vice President, Creative Learning, International Peace & Security Institute (@IPSInstitute)

9:15-9:30 am
Peace Through an Economic Lens

Steve Killelea, a leading voice from the peacebuilding world, will discuss the need for peacebuilders to work through an economic lens to both generate new ideas for the field and help scale interventions with an economic component. Mr. Killelea will also discuss the ways in which impact investors can make a difference in peace and security through increased investments in fragile and conflict-affected communities.

Steve Killelea: Founder and Executive Chairman, Institute for Economics & Peace (@GlobPeaceIndex)

9:30-10:30 am
Peacebuilding, Social Entrepreneurship, and Impact Investing Ignite Talks

A crash course in three fields—their history, value, impact, future direction, and how they interact with each other.

Shamil Idriss: CEO, Search for Common Ground (@SFCG_; @sfcg_pres)

Bulbul Gupta: Founder and CEO, Mighty Girl Ventures (@bulbulnyc)

Chris Walker: Director of the Social Venture Fund, Mercy Corps (@mercycorps)

10:30-10:45 am
Break

10:45-12:00 pm
Venture Peacebuilding World Café

Participants will participate in structured conversations in small group settings related to impact investing, peacebuilding, and social entrepreneurship.

Stone Conroy: Senior Advisor, Venture Peacebuilding, International Peace & Security Institute (@VenturePeace; @Stone_Conroy)

Deborah Mancini: Director, International Peace & Security Institute (@IPSInstitute)

12:00-12:15 pm
Conflict Cuisine Overview

The founder of Conflict Cuisine will describe her program, which looks at how food of the diaspora communities in Washington D.C. reflects the state of conflicts around the globe.

Johanna Mendelson-Forman: Founder, Conflict Cuisine (@conflictcuisine; @JohannaWonk)
12:15-1:30 pm  Lunch (Sponsored by Conflict Cuisine)

1:30-3:00 pm  Concurrent Workshops I

- How to Build a Peace Venture:

  This workshop will feature social entrepreneurship and peacebuilding professionals who will walk participants through the process for building a social enterprise dedicated to fostering reconciliation and resilience in fragile and conflict-affected communities. Session leaders will be the founders of peace ventures themselves and can help social entrepreneurs think about how to add a peacebuilding element to their work, as well as peacebuilders think about how to create new, for-profit models for building peace.

  Rebeen Pasha: Founder and CEO, StartUp Middle East (@MyeDreamLab)
  Paul Heidebrecht: Founder, Epp Peace Incubator (@GrebelCPA)
  Sif Thorgeirsson: PeaceStartup Ambassador for the U.S. (@SifThorgeirsson)

- How to Leverage Innovative Finance for Investing in Peace:

  This workshop will feature peace economists and impact investors who will discuss how to make investments that are conflict-sensitive, foster resilience and reconciliation, and lead to greater peace and prosperity in conflict-affected communities. They will also discuss the use of innovative financing methods that might unlock new sources of funding for peace.

  Johannes Schreuder: Policy Manager, United Nations Peacebuilding Support Office (@UNPeacebuilding)
  Rabbi Joshua Ratner: Director of Advocacy at the JLens Impact Investor Network (@RabbiRatner)
  Michelle McMahon: Legal Counsel, Innovest Advisory
  Eric Letsinger: CEO, Quantified Ventures (@QuantifiedVTS)

- How to Reduce Fragility and Instability in Frontier and Emerging Markets:

  This workshop will feature peacebuilding, fragility, and business professionals who will walk participants through the ways that peacebuilding work can create more stable business environment for investors and entrepreneurs looking to operate in emerging and frontier markets.

  Jenny Anderson: Senior Program Officer, Center for International Private Enterprise (@CIPglobal; @JennyLAnderson_)
  Daniel Owen: Program Manager, Transitional Demobilization and Reintegration Program, World Bank (@WorldBank)
  Jonathan Papoulidis: Executive Advisor on Fragile States at World Vision (@WorldVision; @JPapoulidis)
  Josef Abramowitz: President and CEO, Gigawatt Global (@EngergiyaGlobal; @kaptainsunshine)

3:00-3:15 pm  Break/Movement to Concurrent Workshop II

3:15-4:45 pm  Concurrent Workshop II

- How to Creatively Market Peace Enterprises—Design and Strategy:
Marketing professionals and peacebuilders will lead this session on how to successfully design and implement marketing strategies for social enterprises for peace, using the peacebuilding element as a competitive business advantage.

Stone Conroy: Senior Advisor, Venture Peacebuilding, International Peace & Security Institute (@VenturePeace; @Stone_Conroy)

9:15-9:45 am  How Away and Peace Direct are Working to Bring Peacebuilding into the Mainstream

Now, perhaps more than ever before, companies are eager to contribute to the world around them. They know that doing good is no longer just an option, but something that consumers have come to expect; however, real impact isn’t always easy to achieve. Away, a global travel brand best known for its thoughtful luggage, has partnered with Peace Direct. In this session, hear how the organizations are leveraging their unique strengths to introduce the concept and importance of peacebuilding to a much wider audience.

Amirah Jiwa: Social Impact Lead, Away Travel Company (@Away; @Amiraah)
Bridget Moix: U.S. Senior Representative, Peace Direct (@peacedirect; @BridgetMoix)

9:45-10:45 am  Venture Peacebuilding—From Idea to Industry

This panel will feature impact investors, social entrepreneurs, and peacebuilders, all discussing how to turn the idea of Venture Peacebuilding into an industry. They will discuss partnerships for peace: how investors can finance social enterprises working for peace, how social enterprises can embed peace into their work, and how peacebuilders can work with entrepreneurs and investors to ensure that peace ventures are having the right impact. They will also discuss how to build a new ecosystem for Venture Peacebuilding, using frameworks like the Sustainable Development Goals.

Jennifer Holt: CEO, Building Markets (@BuildingMrkets)
Hanne Dalmut: Director of Social Impact, Concordia (@ConcordiaSummit; @HDalmut)
Karen Volker: Director Strategic & International Partnerships, Cure Violence (@CureViolence)
Elisabeth Cramer: Director of Strategic Partnerships, Impact Hub (@impacthub)
